1. He was not aware of (a)/ the things and the people (b)/ who had surrounded him (c)/ no error(d)

2. After a long gap, (a)/ we went to the nearby mall (b)/ last Sunday and bought (c)/ that we wanted.(d)

3. You can buy that (a)/ you want if (b)/ you top this exam. (c)/ no error(d)

4. I can neither punish him nor reward him for which he have done.

(a) what he done
(b) No improvement required
(c) what he has done
(d) which he has did

5. I know the girl (a)/whom brother threatened you(b)

in the school.(c)/ No error (d)

1. Ans (c) use ‘that’ in place of ‘who’
2. Ans (d) use ‘what’ in place of ‘that’
3. Ans (a) use ‘what/whatever’ in place of ‘that’
4. Ans (c)
5. Ans (b) use ‘whose’ in place of ‘whom’

Sehwag is one of the batsmen who has /have scored more than 8000 runs.

Gold is one of the metals which is/are used in ornaments.

Mercury is only one of the metals that is/are liquid at room temperature.

Mercury is only one of the metals

that is liquid at room temperature.

I like that car.

The quality of my pen is better than that of yours.

She said that Rohan had sent that romantic letter.

Radhika is the only girl that has passed the exam.

Relative pronoun ‘what’:-

- No antecedent
- Used to make noun clause

I know what you have said.

I appreciate what you did for us.

I could not understand the topic…..he taught yesterday.

(which/who/whom/that(rp)/what/ that(conj))

I could not understand…..he taught yesterday.

(which/who/whom/that (rp)/ what/that(conj))

I don’t know….she said about your parents.

(which/who/whom/that (rp)/ what/ that(conj))

He said …….he would join Aman’s batch.

(a) what (b) which

(c) that (R.P) (d) that (Conj)

I know the exact statement….you said.

(which/who/whom/that (rp)/ what/ that(conj))